The railroad lists were rather sluggish and resisted the depression in the special-ties, except for a few stecks.

The Pacifics were notably heavy, especially Union Pacific preferred. This was partly due to the fact that London and only just arrived at the conclusion, quite definitely formed long ago in Wall street, that the dividend on the preferred stock would be only by per cent. The announcement of the dividend caused a raility of about a point, the shorts having evidently awaited the event to cover. Northwestern's August statement, showing a gross increase of $28,200 over last year's imprecedented carnings, was responsible for strength in the grangers. The process of relief of the New York money market was continued today by further large engagements of gold from Loudon, by a debit behance against the sub-treasury of $1,21,444, and by demands upon domestic centers. New York exchange in Chicago ross from 10c discount to 10c premium, call money in London rising $5 per ceut, and the Bank of England raised its minimum rate of discount from 25 to 3 per cent, after having borrowed largely from the market to raise the rate to the level of its own.

Chicago. Sept. 22—All the weakness which marked the close of yesterday's wheat market had disappeared at the opening today and was replaced by strongth exceeding that shown for several weeks. Nearly all the features influencing the market were distinctly in favor of the buying sine. Liverpool was strong and higher at the opening and continued to advance during the day. Paris was also higher, showing an advance of 25 centimes. Duluth and other outside markets reported Marketing and continued to advance during the day. Northwest receipts were af first reported MI cars. against 94 last week and 1,133 a year ago. These figures were affected on prices. Opening trades for December rangel from 50% to 64. compared with yesterday's closing price of 604. This was about the call price ind selling against those privileges graded the market to hestiant for a short time, a few sales being made at 65% 6635. That was the low point of the day. The demand of the shorts, which was good at the opening, grew heavier as the stession proceeded, and as no great amount of wheat came out, a steady upward movement took place, which did not stop until 64% had been bid. At those figures holders began to let go more freely and the advance was checked.

Some selling was caused by reports of rains in the winter belt, which were badly needed and receipts yesterday and today of 20,000 bushels brought here for was stoned. Late in the day the market, which for some time previous had been rather quiet, became active again on reports from New York that 80 boaticads had been worked for export. Private London priosects. Buying orders became very heavy after that and offerings became still more restricted. December closed 15 gills and September 18, higher.

Corn was stoudy with a somewhat better trade. Shorts were fluenced somewhat by wheat. The market closed is higher.

There was a large trade in oats and prices again advanced sharply. Commission houses who have recently been large sellers bought heavily and the elevator people and shorts were also free buyers. The cash demand was excellent.

Provisions—Trade in provisions was light. The firmness of the grain markets acted as a check on short selling and though the demand was light, ofterings were more so. December pork closed 2½c higher. December lard a shade alseler and January ribs 2½c higher at 5 higher.

master of the Panama railroad, and who is greatly interested in the success holders a good profit, and the canal, he says, must surely be a success. The engineer prefers the Panama route as against the Nicaragua route, because of the natural advantages of the former.

"The Panama canal," said Mr. Ward, "is but 45 miles long and has natural and accessible deep water ports at both ends. If built with the lock system it will have rock foundations, on which the locks may be constructed, while the maximum level of the canal will be cut down to less than 109 feet. Should funds be obtainable to warrant the outlay, the canal, in fact, may be cut to the sea level. On the other hand, the Nicaragua route, which is 180 miles.

cut to the sea level. On the other hand, the Nicaragua route, which is 180 miles long, has neither the natural nor accessible ports at either end, and must necessarily be built on the lock system, with a maximum level exceeding 100 feet. It is without rock foundation for most of its locks and for some of its enormous dams, upon the stability of which the feasibility of construction is largely conditioned.

"My familiarity with the topography of the Isthmus of Panama leads me to call attention to the possibility, and, in my judgment, the entire practicability, of cutting a sea level canal across the isthmus of Panama, having only one lock, and that lock for the purpose of regulating the difference in the rise and fall of the tides between the Atiantic and Pacific oceans, in my judgment, the practicability of cutting such a canal across the Isthmus of Panama is one of its chief advahtages. canal across the Isthmus of Panama is one of its chief advahtages. It will, of course, cost more, but it will be worth immeasurably more than a lock system canal and will be subject to fewer liabilities.

"In any event, I believe it is to the interest of the American people, and the duty of the American government, to investigate in a most thorough, careful and intelligent manner the advantages and disadvantages of the Panama and Nicaragua routes, and I amenificity willing to stand the consequences of any criticisms which may result from my having thus expressed myself as convinced of the superior advantages possessed by the Isthmus of Panama over the Isthmus of Nicaragua as a route for an interoceanic canal. "The question is not so much which canal can be best built, as which canal, when built, will best serve the purposes for which it will have been constructed; and I believe that the American people will, investigate carefully before deciding definitely between the two routes."

plan which will insure a free expression of choice by every Democrat at the primaries. Heretofore there has been much complaint that in the crush and jostie of a crowded primary free expression of individual choice was not always had; that ladies felt averse to going into a crowded hall where excited men jostie and push, and sometimes grow boisterous through excitement, and a plan has been decided upon which obviates all those disagreeable features and gives to every Democrat perfect freedom of expression.

The primaries will be open for about New York, Sept. 22.—R. G. Ward, who was for a long time engineer and road-was for a long time engineer and road-or go away as they choose.

of the Panama canal, arrived in this city on the steamer Finance from Colon yesterday. He discussed the inter-oceanic canal scheme at length at his home here. Mr. Ward's interest in the canal is, he says, only the result of his having studied the different routes by living on the isthmus. He is connected with no company. All his sympathies are with the Panama company, however, and that route, he thinks, must eventually be accepted.

Mr. Ward's idea is that any canal might be built in ten years' time, giving a rough guess at a cost of $100,000.

Such a cost would allow the share-holders a good profit, and the canal, he was a such as have been charged by the fusion Democrats concerning the last primaries, such as have been charged by defeated factions heretofree—such as were charged by the fusion Democrats concerning the last city primaries against the Washakle organization. The new system makes it needless for Republicans to apply and makes it possible for every Democrat to cast his or her vote, who is physically able to do so, and furthermore, insures the counting of every vote cast. The primaries are set for Tuesday and the convention for the following Thursday. There can be no cases of packing the

CHURCH INFLUENCE.

Discussed By Senator Frank Cannon

Last Evening.

Senator Cannon spoke last night at the Second ward amusement hall, his subject being his own candidacy for re-election. His address covered, in the main, the same grounds as has been covered in his previous addresses on this subject. He wants the office very much, and thinks he deserves it on account of his past eminent services. He is a sliver Republican still, and proposes to remain one for an indefinite period. His arraignment of the Republican party as being the party of trusts, money sharks, etc., was as severe as it could well be made. He explained that he had promised some of his fellow workers back in Washington that he would be a candidate for re-election, even if he had to announce his own candidacy, and he has kept his word.

One feature of his address which ochounce his own candidacy, and he has kept his word.

One feature of his address which oc-casioned much surprise was the fact that he denied ever having attempted to enlist ecclesiastical influence in his own behalf. He refrained from such attempts by reason of his maguanim-
